Joseph R. Casey is an associate of Beus Gilbert McGroder PLLC, a premier boutique law firm concentrating on High Stakes Litigation, Real Estate and Zoning Law, and Plaintiffs Catastrophic Injury & Wrongful Death. Mr. Roberts is a member of the firm's High Stakes Litigation practice.

Prior to joining Beus Gilbert McGroder, Mr. Casey gained clerkship experience with two noteworthy civil trial practices. His time working for other firms gave him extended exposure to sophisticated trial teams who secured multiple record-setting jury verdicts for their clients.

While pursuing his law degree, Mr. Casey obtained student attorney practice licenses and represented individuals and the federal government in court hearings. He also obtained competitive internships with federal prosecutors, a Justice on the Arizona Supreme Court, and a judge on the Maricopa County Superior Court. For the majority of his time in law school, Mr. Casey served as a research assistant to Drake Law Dean Emeritus Allan W. Vestal, under whose guidance he developed a body of publication-ready legal research designed to advance the rights of civil plaintiffs in the coming years

A linguist by training, Mr. Casey graduated from Baylor University in 2014 with a bachelor's degree in Ancient Greek, with a majority of his scholarship focusing on the writings of Herodotus. He is an alumnus of several academic honors societies, including Eta Sigma Phi, Delta Epsilon Iota, and Mortar Board.

Mr. Casey's history of community involvement includes fundraising or volunteering at St. Vincent de Paul, The Humane Society, Bidwell Riverside Center Food Bank, and Golf-Fore-Charity, an annual fundraiser for children's healthcare.

An Arizona native, he is a parishioner at Our Lady of Joy Catholic Church. Mr. Casey is licensed to practice law in Iowa. He is not a licensed attorney in the state of Arizona.
